

DO NOT WASTE BONES.

The bones of fish, bones of fowls, the large and small pieces of bones which are purchased with beefsteak and mutton, constitute the very best food for fruit trees and grape vines, if the fragments are only placed where the roots can lay hold of them. Instead of allowing pieces of bones to be cast into the back-yard, as food for stray dogs and strange cats, domestic should be directed to deposit everything of the sort in a small tub provided with a lid. As soon as only a few pounds have been accumulated, we take the tub to some grape vine or fruit tree, dig a hole three or four feet long, and not less than a foot deep, into which the bones are dumped, spread over the bottom of the excavation, and covered over with the soil. The more the fragments can be spread around, the better. But they should be buried so deep that a plow or spade will not reach them. The roots of growing vines or fruit trees will soon find the valuable mine of rich fertility, and will feed on the elements that will greatly promote the growth of healthy wood, and the development of fair and luscious fruit.

Many horticulturists and farmers purchase bone-dust, costing not less than two cents a pound, simply to enrich the soil around and beneath their trees and vines. Fragments of bones are just as valuable as ground bone, although their elements of fertility will not be found available in so short a time as if the large pieces were reduced to small atoms. Nevertheless, if large bones be buried three or four feet from a grape vine, the countless number of mouths at the ends of roots will soon dissolve, take up, and appropriate every particle. When cast out of the kitchen door, bones are likely to be a nuisance; whereas, if properly buried, they become a source of valuable fertility. Let every person who owns a grape vine or fruit tree save all the bones that pass through the kitchen, and bury them where such worthless material will be turned to some profit.—Western Farmer.

Frost A Blessing.

There is no agent in nature so productive of important results, and yet so little observed and so imperfectly understood, as the action of freezing. In its immediate and direct results, frost is always a destroyer: but secondarily and remotely, it is one of the most beneficial agents in the economy of nature. But frost acts mainly, if not exclusively, through water. Pure water freezes at 32° Fahrenheit, and in passing into the solid form it expands so as to increase its volume about one tenth; the force of this expansion has never been satisfactorily measured; but for all practical purposes it may be set down as an irresistible force. For an illustration, see the reefs thrown up in our ponds and lakes; note the giant boulders moved from their resting place of ages, and the rocks rent in twain, all over the land, away back in the ice period. All porous substances when they have filled themselves with water are liable to be fractured and even broken into fragments by the expansion of the water they contain, when they are subjected to a freezing temperature. From this cause, buildings and structures of every kind, exposed to weather, are less durable in cold, wet climates than in warm, dry ones. If the pyramids of Egypt had been built in New Hampshire, they would, to-day, have been a pile of rubbish. No unprotected structure, though built of granite, can long withstand the influence of a freezing climate.

This very power of breaking in pieces and pulverizing the very rocks is an important property when brought to bear on the materials of our soil. The freezing of the earth expands the water it has absorbed, and forces the solid particles apart, and when water becomes fluid again these remain separated to some extent; and consequently the soil is loose and porous after a hard freezing. But this is not all; the fragments of rocks which are mixed with the earth are constantly being broken and ground down by this process to a state of fineness which could be reached by no other means.

The effect of freezing on vegetable substances varies with the kind of structure. Dense, fibrous structures are seldom seriously injured by the frost, while cellular structures are generally destroyed. The extent of the injury to growing vegetation, produced by the frost, depends much on the circumstances under which it is thawed. A sharp frost at night (in September or any of the months when vegetation is growing) followed by a heavy fog in the morning, will do but little damage; but if a bright sunshine succeeds the freezing, everything that is tender will be destroyed. Our apples would be insipid and tasteless if it were not for the frost. The farmer should make his barns and outbuildings as warm as necessary for the comfort of his cattle, and thank Jack Frost for his agency in producing a future crop on his farm.—J. L. Hensley in Mirror and Farmer.

How They View The Result in Washington.

The Chicago Tribune's Washington special of November 7th says: The President is elated at the result of the election in New York. He predicts that the State will be Republican next year. He expresses regret at the defeat of Mahone. He had hoped that the movement against the Bourbons would be successful and that there was a promise in it for electoral votes south of the Potomac in 1894. Members of the Cabinet are willing to express their opinions individually, but do not care to be quoted. One of them said: "The election breaks one bubble; it shows that the Republican party has no hopes of any electoral votes south of the Potomac. The colored men cannot stand up in the face of intimidation and no support from white voters is likely to be strong enough to aid them. Our hopes must be in the North and West. The result of the election shows that these hopes have a good foundation. Virginia makes the fact clear that Republicans have nothing to hope from any Southern State; that the Potomac river is the dividing line between Republicanism and Democracy, and that we must and shall carry New York and Indiana next year and rely wholly upon the North. The negroes cannot be relied on to stand by any number of white leaders in opposition to the Bourbon Democracy where recourse is had to the shotgun. Mahone was unquestionably defeated by bulldozing."

Another Assistant Secretary, representing the extreme view of those who still hope for the success of the Readjuster or other independent movements in the South, said: "We can tell better what the prospect will be in Virginia next year when we see how white men stood by Mahone. The Danville riot was, in a measure at least, planned by Bourbons, who took advantage of it to circulate reports of a war of races in the white counties in the southwestern part of the State, which have been Readjuster strongholds. The story was: You see what it has come to. Shall white men or negroes rule in Virginia? This was a strong appeal to make to ex-Confederates and it was an influential one. Next year the trouble will be different. The negroes can have the protection of the Federal law and of the Federal Marshals. If Mahone is not too badly crippled the United States next Fall will perhaps be able to secure a free election and a fair count."

Another said: "There is no more chance of any Republican success in the South. It is to be the old issue of the solid North against the solid South and the North will win. The result in New York shows it, and the issues which the Republicans will be compelled to make in Congress this Winter will be the tariff and civil rights constitutional amendment."

Dezendorf of Virginia, straight out, rejoices in Mahone's defeat, and, strangely enough, says that the Republicans can carry Virginia if they nominate a straight-out ticket.

Mr Bruce, Register of the Treasury, who ought to understand the negro vote in the South as well as any one, says he is confident of a Republican success next year, but that we must look to the North for it.

The Hudson River Tunnel enterprise, of which little has recently been heard, is making steady progress, a grand total of 2,400 feet of tunnel having already been completed. This consists of 2,240 feet of the two tunnels on the New Jersey side. On the New Jersey side the north tunnel is completed for 1,600 feet and the south tunnel 640 feet. It is believed that, unless unforeseen difficulties are encountered, the tunnel will be completed by the close of the year 1884.

Another batch of Mormon converts have just landed at New York. The fact that these immigrants are not likely to become a public charge does not abate the feeling that all immigration of this sort should be excluded from the country. The Mormon power is utterly and persistently hostile to the national authority, and any accessions which reinforce the polygamous abomination, already capable of defying the Government and people, are to be lamented as aggravating the difficulty of effecting a final removal of the evil.

The Carson Appeal says judging from the conduct of the Indians hereabout they expect a very severe Winter. On nearly every train from Reno there are a number of Indians with large quantities of venison which they store away, selling very little. They say there will be so much snow that it will be impossible for them to go into the mountains to shoot game.

Press Comments on the Result.

The Philadelphia Press, on the election, says: In spite of the unusual apathy of an off year, in spite of the discouragement from other States, in spite of the most strenuous efforts of their adversaries, the Republicans have gained a substantial triumph. The exceptional and temporary Democratic success of last year is blotted out. This is the fruit of Republican progress and Republican union; it is the vindication and reward of a broad, liberal and advancing Republican policy.

The New York Times, on the total result, says: Remembering that this is an off year, that the officers elected play a comparatively unimportant part in the Government, that the Democracy held the executive offices by an overwhelming majority, and the Legislature by a very strong one, the fact that they have lost the State at all is exceedingly significant. The leaders who make up their accounts to-night and find the two hundred thousand to their credit a year ago turned to the debit, will, we should say, wish that they had been more economical. The election shows plainly that the Independent Republicans have regained substantial confidence in their party, that they were satisfied with the way in which they were chosen; that they recognized in the Republican organization again an instrument useful for good government, and efficient to carry out the purpose and convictions of the great body of the party. The victory opens up brilliant possibilities for next year. It also imposes a return of responsibility, but only such as can be met, if frankly recognized. The work done at the polls yesterday in New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania makes it clear that something besides the empty cry of "turn the rascals out" will be required as the working capital of the Democratic party.

The New York Tribune says: Last year showed what a mere Administration candidate could do in New York. This year shows, under the most adverse circumstances, what a candidate simply a Republican can do with unity of effort. Next year, with candidates acceptable, New York may clearly be made a Republican State in the Presidential contest. Since the last election not even the most sanguine Republicans have expected to carry New York. Within a week or two the State Committee grew more hopeful, but the grounds of their confidence were not apparent. The party had been badly disorganized or demoralized by a stunning defeat and the State Committee was unfortunately constituted; the canvass was in the last degree apathetic, there were no meetings, no speakers, few documents; there was next to no money. After the crushing blow in the unexpected loss of Ohio, a reduction of the Democratic majority from 200,000 to 25,000 would be in itself a brilliant victory. We have possibly elected the head of the ticket. The Senate is certainly Republican, and the Assembly is heavily so. The legislative branch of the State Government is redeemed, the power for mischief of the Democratic Governor destroyed, and a Republican United States Senator next year made possible.

The Herald says: Should New York pass into the category of doubtful States in the Presidential election of 1894, the managers of the Democratic party have nobody but themselves to blame for it. Although the result of yesterday throughout this State was practically a revolution—a Democratic majority reversed from 190,000 to 20,000, or thereabouts, and implies an overwhelming change—yet the Republicans can hardly congratulate themselves upon all their vote as a gain for their party. They must not count it without a consideration of their friend, John Kelly. There is no doubt that a large part of the vote yesterday cast for the Republican candidates represents the treason of Tammany Hall to the Democratic candidates, and stands as an equivalent to the election of six Tammany Aldermen—although six is the largest number of Tammany Aldermen that any honest man would care to see elected in this city. Yet this upon the whole, is still a triumph for the great boss. As the Board of Aldermen now stands, there are eleven Tammany Aldermen, and for this number to be reduced by five is, in its way, a little Waterloo; but even the six were gained by trades that surrendered all else for the Tammany Senator elected. Of the other Aldermen, nine are from the county Democracy and Republicans. Tammany's trade with the Republican bosses has given her all she possesses.

The Sun chirrups: Now that it is all over, let everybody be happy; but the Republican party must go.

A Reminder of Old Washoe Times. Hay is selling at $80 per ton in Cooke City, Montana.

Money is becoming scarce in San Francisco, and the rate of interest is a little higher. It is thought considerable money has been sent East.

The Grass Valley Union, a Democratic paper, says, "the man who could give Mr. Tilden the best fight in New York would be Chester A. Arthur, and from present appearances these will be the men who will be put forward by their respective parties."

Interoceanic Canals.

A Washington special declares that the President will seriously call the attention of Congress this year to the imperative importance of giving serious consideration at no distant day to the Isthmus Canal question. It is understood the Executive regards the operations of De Lesseps at Panama, under the authority of the French Government, as making it hazardous to delay much longer some definite action on our part, in order that our position may be clearly established with an eye to future contingencies. He has observed with interest, it is understood, the progress of European sentiment with reference to the Suez Canal, and regards with favor an early expression from Congress with reference to an interoceanic highway at Nicaragua or some other point.

Knights Templar Circuit.

A circular has been issued by Grand Commander George O. Perkins to the subordinate Commanderies of Knights Templar of California in which the showing made by the committees and officers who were connected with the Triennial Conclave demonstration is pronounced to be "truly gratifying; and all members of the Committee are to be congratulated upon so successful a termination of one of the grandest events in the history of our Order on this continent." The vote placing the $7,000 surplus above all the Conclave expenses in the Knights Templar Drill Fund is announced, and the recommendation that all subordinate Commanderies meet on April 10, 1894, with the Grand Commandery of the State is approved.

The Presidential Contest

The San Francisco Call says "the November elections have materially changed the face of the coming Presidential contest. They show that the Republican party is in the ascendancy in every Northern State east of the Alleghenies, except perhaps New Jersey. The latter State has now a small Democratic majority, but it cannot hold out against the influences which have overthrown the Democracy in every other Eastern State in which it has from time to time made a lodgment."

Free Trade agitation.

* At Washington Wednesday, ex-Speaker Kiefer said: "Frank Hurd claims that nothing will prevent him from opening the tariff question and that he will introduce a free trade bill the first day of the session, if he can, and that Morrison and Tucker will help him to do so. Carlisle is pledged to organize the House in the interest of free trade, if he is elected. Leading free trade Democrats have assured me of that. Frank Hurd talks openly and Randall cannot keep the free traders down."

Arthur at the Head.

The New York Star says: The election in this State on Tuesday places Arthur at the head of the Republican candidates for 1894. Arthur has shown that he has the possibility of carrying New York.

The postal savings bank in Great Britain grows more successful every year. During the past year 788,858 accounts were opened and 537,494 closed, leaving 2,858,976 accounts open at the end of the year, as against 2,607,612 in the previous year. The deposits were 6,000,000 in number, and £12,000,000 in amount, which exceeds by £2,000,000 the withdrawals. It is encouraging to find that the business in Ireland showed a large increase, the number of deposits during the year having been 278,727, amounting to £752,673, as against 251,156, amounting to £262,170 in 1881. The now assured success of this experiment in Great Britain will naturally strengthen the movement for the establishment of a similar system in this country.

The rapid growth of the country in that most healthy of all directions, the increase of farms, is strikingly illustrated by the report of the General Land Office. The number of homesteads entered upon during the fiscal year, chiefly in the Far West, foots up no less than 55,520, which is the highest figure reached since the law went into operation, and exceeds the entries during 1882 by more than ten thousand. No government ever offered its people such facilities for acquiring homes as that of the United States, and this liberal land policy has abundantly vindicated the wisdom of its authors.

The Grass Valley Union, a Democratic paper, says, "the man who could give Mr. Tilden the best fight in New York would be Chester A. Arthur, and from present appearances these will be the men who will be put forward by their respective parties."

Fun.

There are men who never forget a kindness done, that is, if they do it themselves.

It is a question if a Summer vacation is of any practical benefit to a clergyman. In three months a congregation can lose an amount of piety that a hard Winter's work will scarcely recover.

"No," said the man, who had been looking around for a house and finally found one next to the cemetery. "I don't think the situation is a pleasant one; but then it's handy. Whenever there's a death in the family we won't need to have hacks at the funeral."

The health authorities made a big mistake in arresting an honest farmer with a wagon-load of decayed produce. He proved by seven witnesses that he did not bring the stuff to the city to sell, but he had bought it in the city and was taking it home to his Summer boarders.

Poot's wife remarked to him, as they started out the other night to take supper with the Browns, that she expected Mrs. B. would have a stunning coiffure. "Well, I'm sure I hope so," grumbled Poots. "I haven't had anything good to eat since the last time we were at mother's."

Eminent medical authorities state that mosquitoes carry disease. Here is the chance the Russian Nihilists have long been looking for. They can get millions of mosquitoes free of cost in New Jersey, and it won't cost much to import them to Russia, and open a few cases in the royal palace.

"Ah! going to take a vacation at the beach?" said one man to another, as the two met on a boat going down the harbor. "No; I'm merely going down to have my name registered at one of the beach hotels so that it may be published in the guests' list. There is nothing like putting on style you know."

A new color is known by the poetical name of "bleached mouse." We venture that it is a sort of rat-lan color.

An Old Soldier's EXPERIENCE.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of

as a cough remedy.

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases.

J. W. WHITLEY."

Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

P. N. Norton went to Peavine yesterday with a load of supplies for the Golden Fleeces.

The N. & O. train took north yesterday morning 16 passengers and a full load of merchandise.

L. Trainor, of Napa, Cal., an old time resident of Washoe, drifted in yesterday from the Wood River country.

J. J. Linn, of the Gazette, is quite unwell, so much so that yesterday he was forced to lay aside his faber, temporarily.

Norman Buck and William Dodson, of Surprise Valley, have a band of 200 head of hogs a few miles south of town.

State Printer Harlow has printed some beautiful circulars embodying the Governor's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Sunderland & Burlington's boot and shoe store has been the cause of war, and the other dealers announced great reductions.

James G. Fair, Jr. is returning home from New York on a sailing vessel, via Cape Horn, and expects to be four months on the trip.

Frank Mite has been committed to the Insane Asylum from Storey county. His malady is of a nervous character; he imagines someone is trying to kill him.

M. Vansickle and F. McComber, Carson Valley, have favored Reno with their presence the past few days. They are said to be watching for a favorable opportunity to buy stock.

The JOURNAL does not believe that Ben Carrick now owns "one of the finest farms in Oregon." A gentleman lately from Seattle says he saw Carrick there, and that he had been working for $2 per day, but was out of a job at present.

Sallie Winnemucca, the so-called Piute Princess, is doing a profitable business in the East, lecturing on the "Wrongs of the Piute." She is accompanied by a Mr. H. Hopkins, her reputed husband, and Miss Elizabeth Peabody, of Boston, who can boast of some local fame, in being a leader in several humane societies in Boston.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine.

The December number comes to us, outwardly greatly improved by a new and very tasteful cover—inwardly, we think the magazine is scarcely capable of improvement, the present number brilliantly closes the fourteenth volume. "Religious Denominations in the United States" is continued, and "What is Sweden-borgianism?" is explained by Rev. J. C. Ager. There are articles on "Buddhism and its Early Literature," "The Episcopal General Convention," "Sacred Musicians of the XIXth Century," "The Shapira Manuscript of Deuteronomy," "The Knights of the temple," "Woman's Work in Germany," etc., etc. Most of these are admirably illustrated. There are Sketches, Essays, Poems, and a rich department of Fiction, with the conclusion of the serial, "Mr. Burke's Nieces," and short stories by Eben E. Rexford, E. F. Gordon Cumming, and other celebrated writers. The editor, T. De Witt, Talmage, D. D. contributes a sermon, and indeed the number abounds with interesting and edifying reading. A single number is sold for 25 cents, or $3 a year, postpaid. Mrs. Frank Leslie, Publisher, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

The Asylum Racket.

The charges against Superintendent Bishop were considered by the Board yesterday at Carson. Mary Whalen, the discharged laundress, and Harrington, an ex-attendant, were examined for the complainant. Their testimony was very favorable to the Superintendent. The racket is too thin to talk about. The Board adjourned to meet at the call of Governor Adams, when he returns to Carson.

Remember This.

Never condemn your neighbor unheard, however many the accusations which may be preferred against him; every story has two ways of being told, and justice requires that you should hear the defense as well as the accusation, and remember that the malignity of enemies may place you in a similar situation.

Dancing School.

Miss Villa Hunt will open her dancing school at Kimball's Hall to-night. Miss Hunt is an accomplished teacher, and the young fun-loving people of Reno will no doubt find her dances entertaining as well as instructive.

The abolition of the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction would meet with the hearty endorsement of the taxpayers. There has never been a time in the history of the State when this officer ever did anything to speak of in return for the money dragged from the State Treasury. Let the office expire with the term of its present incumbent who has not been at his post for months.—Carson Appeal.

It can not be done. Had an amendment been passed by the last Legislature, again by the next, and then approved by the people, it would have been all right.

The Walker Lake Bulletin in one of its generous strokes makes the following proposition:

Carson and Reno are fighting for the State Fair. If they keep up the squabble Hawthorne may for the sake of peace and quietness agree to furnish grounds for the Fair and thus remove the grounds of dispute.

Dr. Bently and family, who have been in Reno several days visiting relatives, leave for their home in Napa Valley to-day. Their visit was cut short by the sickness of their little girl, who took a severe cold coming over the mountains and narrowly escaped an attack of pneumonia.

Gordon Rice is in San Francisco, having had enough of the Sandwich Islands. Dan Lyons has been removed from his place, and may be expected back this way soon. The JOURNAL's "Beecher" is still at Honolulu, and does not intend to return to Reno at present.

This is a good day to sample Geo. Becker's brew and test the merits of his Pacific Brewery beer.

L. P. Whiting, of Milford, came up from the Bay yesterday morning en route home. He will remain in Reno a day or two.

"Did you see that big meteoric display last night?" asked Gus de Smith of Gilhooly. "When did it come off?" "About nine o'clock. Didn't you see it?" "No, of course I didn't. I live out in the suburbs, and never get a chance to see anything that is going on after dark in the business portion of the city."

"Ah, Sam! So you've been in trouble, eh?" "Yes, Sam; yes." "Well, well, cheer up, man; adversity tries us, and shows up our better qualities." "Ah! but adversity didn't try me; it was the judge, and he showed up my worst qualities."

To KEEP APPLES.—In the Farmers' Friend we read that "it may seem superfluous to give a recipe for keeping apples this year, as there are so few to keep. Like the recipe for cooking a rabbit, 'first catch your hare,' first get your apples and then they may be kept as follows: Fill, nearly to the top, barrels with the apples, and then pour in fine, dry sand, and then shake down gently till all the corners are filled with sand. It is claimed that apples cared for in this way will keep indefinitely. We have seen apples kept nicely which were pitted in dry, sandy or gravelly soil, as potatoes and turnips are sometimes kept. To pit apples, select some dry spot where there is no danger of water filling the pit, excavate two or three feet in depth and any size in circumference you wish; place dry, clean straw in the bottom and also cover the apples with straw, then a layer of dry earth, enough to escape freezing. Apples kept in this way will come out in the Spring nice and crisp."

A Card.

William Plummer tenders his best thanks to his numerous friends, and the public generally, for the very liberal support accorded him in the past, and he begs to inform them that he has again effected a co-partnership with R. E. Queen, at the old stand, and respectfully invites a continuance of their patronage. The new firm have added largely to their stock of drugs, chemicals, patent medicines, wines and liquors for medicinal purposes; toilet and fancy articles, etc. In the dispensing departments they make a specialty of physicians' prescriptions and family receipts, bringing to their already large experience the latest achievements in scientific pharmacy, and are prompt in filling all orders entrusted to them.

Having Admitted the Strength of the Evidence, an Eminent Physician takes Logical Action.

The following letter tells its own story. The signature will be recognized as that of the Physician-in-Chief of the De Quincey Home, and author of "Drugs That Enslave," "The Hypodermic Injection of Morphine," "A Manual of Nursing," and many other popular and valuable special medical works:

181 WEST TENTH STREET, NEW YORK, August 11, 1890.

MESSRS. SEABURY & JOHNSON,

Gentlemen:—Like most of my profession, I am cautious about pinning my faith to any new medicine or curative agent. But your BENSON'S CAPSICINE POROUS PLASTER has broken through the barriers and won its way to my good opinion. My attention was first called to it some eight months ago by a patient of mine. Although I was well acquainted with the superior excellence of your other plaster and antiseptic dressing, made especially for the profession, the Benson's was comparatively new to me. I had heard, however, of its merits as a remedy, in cases of Lame Back, Local Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Congestion of the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver and the like affections, and have since begun to experiment with it personally. And BENSON'S CAPSICINE PLASTER an exceptionally cleanly plaster to use, and rapid in its action.

Many tests of its qualities, made in my own family and among my patients, have convinced me that there is no other single article so valuable for popular use, nor so helpful in the diseases I have named.

Should you desire to do so, you may use my name to that effect.

Very truly yours,

R. H. KANE, A. M., M. D.

The genuine have the word CAPSICINE cut in the center. Price 25 cents.
